MESSAGE FROM THE Vice-Chancellor

I am glad to learn that a Placement Brochure for the students of Master of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations is being brought out by the Department of Psychology, Banaras Hindu University. The globalization of Indian Economy has brought in tremendous growth in production as well as service industry with concomitant increase in the work force. With this increase, the importance of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations has grown over the years. I am sure that the rigorous training provided under the MPMIR programme must have made the students adept in technical, human and conceptual managerial skills which they can put in good use, provided they are able to secure job which make optimum use of the capabilities so acquired. I feel that the Placement Brochure contains enough information for the students as well as the prospective employers to make them able for the right choice of jobs and candidates, respectively.

I take this occasion to extend a welcome to the employers, wish the students all the success in their future life and congratulate faculty and staff for their untiring efforts in training the students.

MESSAGE FROM THE Rector

I feel extremely delighted in introducing the MPMIR students of the Department of Psychology of this University through this Placement Brochure. The increased pressure on organizations as a result of global competition to maximize the productivity of their work force has markedly enhanced the significance and responsibility of human resource management professionals. In view of these facts and having an intention to give a psychological and new technological orientation to the management of human resources, the University has launched this professional course. The students of MPMIR have been trained with extensive theoretical as well as practical knowledge of all aspects of the function of human resource. The development of dynamic personality and managerial skills with a blend of psychological and technical inputs has been a salient specialty of the PMIR course. I heartedly wish for the placement of the MPMIR students since I am sure that the organizations will be definitely benefited by the working of these students.

B.D. Singh
Rector

Prof. Reeta Kumar

Head, Department of Psychology

Message from Head of Department

I am extremely pleased to introduce through this brochure the MPMIR students of this Department. During their stay in the Department for four semesters, they have been widely exposed to all important areas of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations. Both theoretical and applied aspects of the field were combined in their teaching programme. A major emphasis has been on the development of HRD skills through a number of techniques including case studies and simulation exercises. The students have been particularly prepared for Database Management, which provides them with complete training for the use of software.

This brochure contains a brief profile of each student. I feel pleasure in inviting you to participate in the Campus Placement Programmes of students of MPMIR as per the procedure given in the brochure. You are most welcome to visit our Department and interact with the Faculty as well as students.

Reeta Kumar

Head of Department

Coordinator

Master of Personnel Management &
Industrial Relations

I have immense pleasure in introducing our students of the present batch of MPMIR course through this Placement Brochure. The increased pressure on organizations, as a result of global competition to maximize the productivity of their workforce has markedly enhanced the significance and responsibility of human resource management professionals. In view of these facts and having an intention to give a psychological orientation to the management of human resources, the Department of Psychology has launched this innovative course. We try to equip our students with extensive theoretical as well as practical knowledge of all aspects of the function of human resource. The development of dynamic personality and managerial skills with a blend of psychological inputs has been a salient speciality of the present course.

I feel pride in inviting you to conduct Campus Placement interviews for our MPMIR students.

Course Coordinator

Prof. A.P. Singh

Chairman

Training & Placement Cell, MPMIR

I feel privileged to introduce our MPMIR students through this immaculate Placement Brochure. I am confident that the exceptional calibre and academic acumen of our students included in their profile will immediately establish their suitability to your concern.

The calm, serene, and hassle-free ambience of the Banaras Hindu University amply enthuses its students to imbibe the humanistic and egalitarian social ethos. This process is further sharpened by our instructional modules, which equip the students with requisite personnel managerial skills to shoulder the real world challenges.

I take pride in cordially inviting you to participate in our endeavour and look forward to welcome you to our placement programme.

Banaras Hindu University

The Capital of Knowledge

The Banaras Hindu University is an internationally renowned and leading residential university situated to the south of Varanasi, half a mile away from the banks of the Ganga in an extensive area of approximately 1300 acres of land. The university founded by the great nationalist leader and visionary Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya in 1916, is the largest residential institution in Asia, which offers quality education in one campus in almost all the branches of learning.

There are four Institutes, 15 Faculties and more than 145 teaching Departments, 1 undergraduate college for women, 3 schools in the town for pre-college education, and 53 hostels in this unique university which caters to nearly 18,000 students coming from all four corners of the country as well as from the US, the UK, the Russia and the Europe. Apart from four centers of excellence and a score of Department of Special Assistance, it also has a large number of specialized research centers.

Bharat Kala Bhavan, the reputed museum of the University, is a treasure trove of rare collections. The University has a 1000 bed hospital equipped with all the modern amenities catering to a large population of northern India. The University provides a wide range of facilities for sports and hobbies.

It has large playgrounds, an enviable Gymnasium, large auditoriums, a very large amphitheatre, a flying club, a dairy, a swimming pool and a well-equipped library which is the largest in any university in India, stacking more than 12-lakh books with inter library linking through internet, and above all an elegant marble temple of Lord Vishwanath. Apart from these, there are many auxiliary services, 53 hostels fully wired with broadband internet facilities and units like Public Relations Cell, Printing Press, Food Preservation Centre, F. M. Radio Station, Petrol Pump, ATMs, Banks, Post Offices, Subsidized Canteens, an NCC barrack and its own Security Force.

In fact, the University has, besides acquiring a niche on the academic map of the world, also carved out a place of its own in the hearts of millions in this economically under advanced region of India. The University is an all India institution and is open to persons of all castes and creed.

The department of PSYCHOLOGY

The Department of Psychology is one of the premier Departments which, right from its inception in the year 1949, has incessantly strived to inculcate the motto of scientific vigour in its students. The Department obtained its independent status in 1962 and it has maintained its tradition of equal emphasis on experimentation as well as on applied areas. It has 7 well-equipped laboratories that are currently the most advanced in this country and can compete with any good laboratory abroad. Alive to the urgent need of providing dynamic, synergetic, professionally well-equipped, and humanistically sensitive personnel managers who are able to cope with the inordinately challenging organizational demands, the Department of Psychology launched an innovative and job oriented two year's (four-semesters) Master of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations Course. The Department believes that it is essential to train such personnel managers who are deeply committed to humanistic and egalitarian social ethos and who decisively put man above machine.

Genesis of the PM & IR

Department of Psychology is recognised as a Centre for Academic and Research excellence in the arena of behavioral sciences. The contributions from this Department can be seen to influence various academic domains, industrial practices and interdisciplinary knowledge.

The Banaras Hindu University initiated in the year 1999, the professional course 'Master of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations' under the flagship of this Department for administrative and strategic reasons. The fostering of future managers is done with the help of in-house, core and extended faculty and subject experts from the Banaras Hindu University and supplemented by renowned HR experts from all over the country.

PMIR is a pioneering course in the field of modern management education. It is the focal point for providing the input for efficient and pragmatic approach to problem solving for improvement in the different fields of business.

The continuing endeavour of PMIR is to evolve itself as an Institute that can provide skilled professionals to the industry and is also world class not in terms of material modernity of infrastructure or size but in terms of contextual relevance of the institution by way of contribution to the society, growth and value based development.

The student body of PMIR is meticulously selected through an All-India level entrance test, group discussion, and interview and carefully nurtured in an atmosphere that is creative, harmonising and challenging.

The Workplace

Master of Personnel Management and Industrial Relations, under the Department of Psychology, Banaras Hindu University has earned a high standing in the field of management education in a very short period of time. At PMIR, it has been realized that the learning today has changed its form and shape. No longer are the classroom exercises sufficient to keep tomorrow's managers abreast with the latest information. The shift is towards net-based teaching, information gathering and assimilation. PMIR has identified this fact long back and has already moved far ahead in the line.

The Teaching Ambience

Technology has changed the teaching methodology and so has the ambience. The method of teaching adopted in the programme consists of a combination of lectures and seminars, case discussions and student's presentations.

Quality study materials and the facilities of Xerox systems, electronic typewriters, project documentation systems, LCD projection systems and Laptops are provided to students for reproducing library material. Experience brought through summer and winter trainings and internships, projects and assignments, etc., supplements the theory with practical aspects of the management. It supports our mission of self-learning or exploration.

Student's Empowerment through Learning Excellence Model

The PMIR students are required to participate in various councils, teams and groups which are directly involved with every facet of its working. Dealing with real life projects makes every student adept in crisis management, decision making, managing finance, and interacting with people.

The Dream of PMIR Committee

Applied orientation is of prime importance in management learning and in discovering its dimensions. The best results can be achieved through adopting an Entrepreneurial Design in operations. The Dream of MPMIR Committee is a student managed virtual organization having its members from the students of PMIR Course. The core objective of this organization is learning through innovation in Corporate Culture. It has its own Vision, Mission. and Strategic goal with complete matrix of organizational structure.

The Organizational Structure is spread in the following areas of operation: Organizational Design and Corporate Planning, Organizational Behavior, Finance and Control, HRM/ HRD, Strategic Operations, Marketing, Shared Services & New Initiatives, Organizational Learning and Business Intelligence, Public Relations, Industrial Relations and Legal Services and Systems.

The creative minds of this Committee have launch the PMIR Website. Under the aegis of BHU website with all the information about its course material, its faculty members and the student profiles, and a distinct Logo of its own.

They believe in the motto of

"We break down barriers, making way for success.

Extraordinary minds, integrate to progress. We sculpt our dreams to perfection, carrying everyone as we climb."

Library

The Department has a well-stacked library of its own. The Departmental Library comprises extensive collection of more than 10,000 books, journals, research reports, video cassettes and case studies. The library subscribes a number of reputed international and Indian journals and periodicals. Besides, Department's students have easy access to University Central Library.

Computer Lab

Ideas not implemented are ideas lost. And that is why the Department is equipped with a computer lab with an Internet connection. Students make their own presentations and discuss case studies and strategies, discussions are mandatory in the lab after their official class room timing. Learning, therefore, is not bound by class timing. The free access to information keeps them on their toes and abreast with the latest in the global scenario. PMIR students have elaborate arrangements for using computer facility in the Department. The University networking (BHU Wide Area Network) is available along with a number of static PC's. The Departmental Computer Lab has latest systems on Windows and Linux/UNIX systems on LAN and licensed software, managed by qualified staff.

Hostel Facilities

The University has 53 hostels for boys and girls separately inside the campus. As this course needs rigorous hard work, there is an imperative need to provide adequate facilities for relaxation and recreation. This is taken care of by providing facilities like television, internet facility, indoor games, and outdoor games at the hostels.

Banking Facilities

There are four branches of different Banks inside the campus which take care of financial transaction of the student and provides loan facilities; recently the ATM facility has also been started for the students.

Mess Facilities

The student's mess, which is managed by the students' manager themselves, is operational throughout the year and provides healthy, nutritious meals while taking care of divergent food habits of the students.

Advanced Curriculum

The curriculum is designed to impart knowledge to handle intricate business issues. This curriculum helps the PMIR students not only to hone their decision-making skills, but also adapt themselves to the dynamic business environment.

Corporate Interaction

Our Academic Interfaces: The visiting faculties are from Industry and premier institutions of India and abroad. The PMIR, BHU had the privilege of academic interfacing with institutes like IIM-A, XLRI, TISS, FSS, Delhi University, CII Technology Transfer Centre and many eminent Academicians and Institutions in the domain. Lecture Series from International subject experts in frontiers of behavioural sciences linked HRD is an integral part of the curriculum.

In order to keep in tune with the corporate world, the department organizes guest lectures, workshops and seminars involving leading professionals from the industry. Around 4-5 guest lectures are organized every month. This provides a useful supplement to classroom training.

Pedagogy

The medium of instruction for MPMIR is English. A group of highly qualified and experienced teachers of the Department of Psychology and from sister faculties of the University form the core and extended faculty of MPMIR. Regular guest lectures delivered by eminent academicians and corporate professionals are organized to enlighten the students on real life corporate problems. Teaching of MPMIR comprises seminars, group discussions, simulation games, assignments, case studies, field visits, research projects, labs in HRM and HRD, computer assisted presentation and survival exercises. The MPMIR students undergo an intensive and supervised Eight-Week Summer Training in organizations of repute at the end of the second semester.

Other inputs

The Department frequently organizes national and international Seminars and Symposia and workshop for the worldwide orientation of its students toward National / International Management scenario. Each MPMIR student is compulsorily given training in computer assisted instruction about management information systems in the Departmental Computer Lab.

Alumni Meet 2010

It was a long awaited desire of the alumni placed at different levels of managerial cadre in various parts of the country to meet together and revive the sweet old memories of their stay in PMIR-BHU campus.

The purpose of BHU PMIR Alumni Association is to foster a continuing, intimate and comprehensive relationship between the Faculty and its former students as well as to promote unity and friendship. There are over 180 alumni who have successfully established themselves in different parts of the globe. This strong community is truly a family, sharing common interests, goals and ideals; thus, living out the Faculty's mission.
